Thèmes de Recherche

Le CERDI est un centre de recherches dédié à l'étude des processus de développement international. Il rassemble des économistes, chercheurs du CNRS ou enseignants-chercheurs de l'Université d'Auvergne, dont les domaines de compétences sont variés et couvrent aussi bien les aspects microéconomiques que macroéconomiques du développement. Les pays à revenu faible ou intermédiaire constituent le champ d'application des travaux menés au CERDI.

Des formations (Magistère, Masters, Doctorat) spécialisées en développement international sont adossées au CERDI et bénéficient d'un lien étroit entre l'enseignement et la recherche.

Le CERDI travaille de manière régulière avec les institutions nationales (Agence Française de Développement, Ministères), régionales (banques de développement, institutions d'intégration régionale) et internationales (Nations Unies, Fond Monétaire International, Banque Mondiale) en charge des politiques de développement et de leur financement.

Le CERDI collabore avec la Fondation pour l'Etude et la Recherche sur le Développement International (FERDI) et l'Institut du Développement Durable et des Relations Internationales (IDDRI) dans le cadre du Laboratoire d'Excellence (Labex) IDGM+. Il contribue activement au projet Cap 20-25 à travers le Challenge scientifique « disaster risk reduction ».
